Commitment to Business Continuity Management

Polyco Healthline will:

- have an appropriate structure in place for the management of business continuity issues,
- identify reasonably foreseeable disruptive events and keep their impact under review,
- maintain and exercise the plans and resources necessary to continue core activities,
- keep in mind the needs of interested parties,
- maintain supply to key customers,
- mitigate any potential brand and reputational damage,
- consult employees as appropriate in developing and implementing business continuity plans,
- keep in mind the quality, health & safety and environmental implications of these issues, and strive for continual improvement in business continuity.
- utilise the information from the above activities to set the business continuity objectives.

Planning and implementation

The Company will maintain plans identifying and mitigating against those reasonably foreseeable disruptive events which could harm satisfactory delivery of its key products and services.

The Company will implement and maintain selected business continuity solutions, so that they can be activated when needed. These solutions are identified in the current Business Continuity Plan.

Management Review

The Chief Operating Officer and the Executive Board will review the BCMS at planned intervals (minimum annually) to ensure its continuing suitability, adequacy and effectiveness.
